

Girdler Seeks Senate Inquiry Of CIO During Strike of 1937

Asks Investigation of 'Violence' and Intimidation'

WANTS DATA SEIZED
Republic Steel Chief Denied Right to Read Statement

Washington—(P)—Tom Girdler, telling Republic Steel corporation's version of last summer's steel strike, bemoaned today what he described as the legalization of barbers between labor and management.

"Back in 1919," the corporation chairman told the senate civil liberties committee, "you were commended if you had close relations with your men, if you let them tell you what they thought and told them what you thought."

"Now it's an unfair labor practice if you tell them what you think."

Asked About Unionization:

Particularly, Chairman LaFollette asked if Girdler recalled any efforts at union organization in the steel industry while he was at Alquippa.

"There were little armies here and there but none of great importance so far as Aliquippa was concerned," Girdler replied.

"Were any steps taken to discourage union organization?" the chairman inquired.

"I don't remember any except the civil liberties and freedom of speech we had at that time in advising a man he was better off handling his own affairs instead of having some one else handle them for him," was his answer.

Girdler testified that duties of the plant police force then were about the same as today—to guard against theft and sabotage.

Washington—(P)—Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, demanded today a Senate investigation of "violence and intimidation" by the CIO in last summer's "Little Steel" strike.

Criticizing the Senate Civil Liberties Committee investigation of the strike as being "one-sided," the blunt-spoken steel executive declared it would be only fair to subpoena CIO records to show what the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee paid a $1,500,000 fund.

Girdler, last of more than 300 witnesses examined in connection with the widespread 1937 strike, said in a prepared statement that he had heard "an uncurrent rumor for months that because our company signed no contract with the CIO, the real purpose of the present session was to smear Republic Steel corporation, crucify Tom Girdler and whitewash the CIO."

Girdler asked Chairman LaFollette (P-Wis.) for permission to read his statement before being questioned by committee members. LaFollette denied the request, saying such permission had been refused other witnesses. The chairman added, however, Girdler could offer the statement later for introduction into the record.

Cites Violence:

Girdler said in his statement he was filing with the committee the record of 550 cases of "violence and intimidation by the CIO." Republic, he said, is "prepared to produce hundreds of witnesses to support these charges."

"In view of these facts," he said in a prepared statement read to the committee, "I respectfully insist that the committee investigate the violations of the civil rights and liberties of American citizens by the CIO."

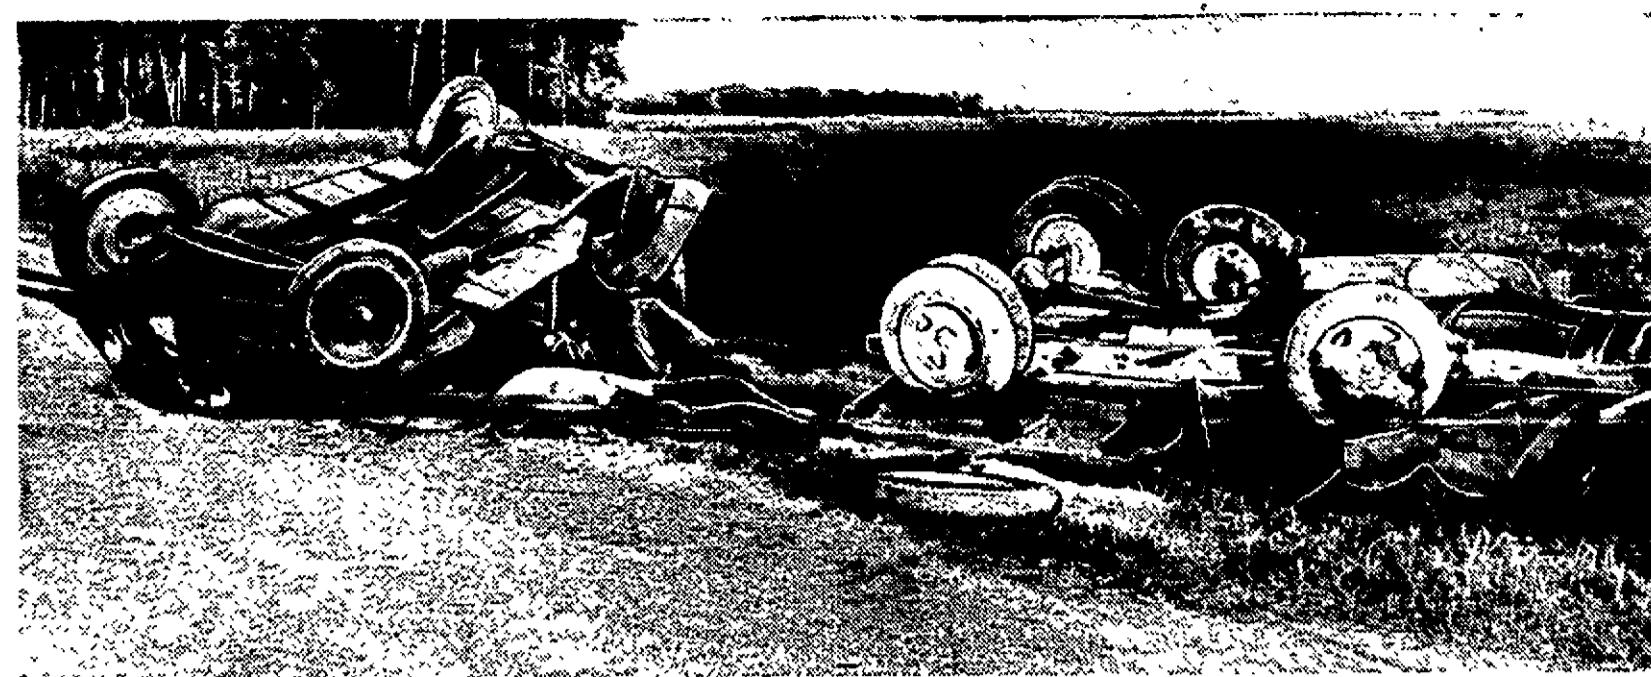

Girdler vigorously defended his action in refusing to sign a contract with the S. W. O. C. last year. It was this action, coupled with similar refusal by other "Little Steel" companies, which brought on the 1937 strike.

Opposition to CIO:

He said Republic officials were convinced that, (1) a majority of their employees "did not want to sign"; (2) that such a contract was "the first step toward a closed shop and the check-off," and (3) that the CIO was "not under responsible leadership and that communistic influences were dominating its activities."

CRASH WRECKAGE IN WHICH 4 LOST LIVES

Outagamie county's worst traffic tragedy of the year occurred at 5:15 yesterday afternoon at a town road intersection two miles north of Twelve Corners when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wagner and two of their children were killed in an auto-truck crash. Two other Wagner children and Harold Klarner, St. Black Creek, driver of the truck, were injured. Shown above is the wreckage of the two machines. The picture was taken by a Post-Crescent photographer a short time after the crash. An inquest into the death of the four persons will be held next week.

Truce Reached In Russo-Jap Border Strife

Both Sides Keep Troops in Positions Held at Midnight Aug. 10

Moscow—(P)—The vest-pocket war on the Siberian frontier, which threatened to involve Russia and Japan in a major conflict, appeared well on the way to peaceful settlement today.

Both sides agreed to a truce after a peace parley between the Soviet Russian foreign minister, Maxim Litvinoff, and the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, and to order their forces to cease military operations at noon today Changkufeng hill, center of trouble since July 11, were cleared up by the agreement—the basis for re-defining the border remained a thorny problem which could start new quarrels.

Troops Keep Positions:

A communiqué announced Japan and Russia had decided that their respective troops would remain in positions they held at midnight Aug. 10.

A commission of two Soviet representatives and two Japanese-Manchukuo representatives was agreed upon to deal with demarcation that agreement had not been reached about the basis for work of the demarcation commission.

In other words, Tokio had not agreed to recognize maps attached to the Hunchun treaty of 1886, between Russia and China, which Moscow heretofore has insisted must be recognized as authoritative in determining the boundary.

The Japanese ambassador promised, however, the Soviet communiqué said, to consult his government on this point, which may mean a compromise is in sight to forestall any new outbreak in the border quarrel.

Tokio—(P)—The Japanese war office announced tonight complete quiet prevailed throughout the Siberian-Manchukuo border region as the Soviet-Russian-Japanese armistice went into effect.

A "cease fire order" went out at noon in the disputed border zone, where Soviet and Japanese troops had been fighting since July 29.

Albert C. Rule Elected Building Inspector by Council on 102nd Vote

The city council took 102 ballots to elect a building inspector.

The aldermen went 87 rounds a week ago last night and at the finish, the building inspector's job got the decision. Then last night, at an adjourned meeting, they wrote names on pieces of paper 15 more times before settling the matter.

The new building inspector is Albert C. Rule, 231 E. South River street, who was twice mayor of Appleton and who tried unsuccessfully to be mayor again last spring.

Rule's name was not among the 27 applicants. On ballot No. 11 last night, in which Rule received six votes, Alderman Grignon arose and said: "Rule's name isn't on this list. Are they voting for Rule or Roehl?"

Albert C. Roehl, 812 W. Summer street, was one of the men who made application.

"They're probably just exercising their American right to write someone's name in on the ballot," Alderman Grignon remarked.

Arbogast Second:

Rule snagged the required number of seven votes on the 102nd ballot, with Arbogast, a rather steady contender, second with four.

Carl Smith, one of the early favorites, faded after ballot No. 6 in which he tallied five votes, then the heaviest voting swing over to Rule.

The election of Rule was more or less climactic. As the aldermen were poised their pencils over ballot No. 102, Alderman Keller got to his feet. It looked, he said, as though there was going to be a second showing of last week's performance. He moved that the council adjourn and rule.

Lightning struck the union station in Washington, D. C., splintered a flagpole on the United States treasury building and started a fire in the wiring of the department of agriculture building. The storm brought temporary respite from 90-degree heat in the capital.

The downpour measured 4.27 inches at Cortland, N. Y., and 3.35 inches at Rochester.

New York city was hit by the tail of the storm, which caused postponement of the Armstrong-Ambers lightweight championship fight last night.

Drenched thermometers in Boston showed temperature readings in the 50's.

In Kansas City, the mercury dipped 33 degrees overnight from the year's high of 103.

Rainstorms also were reported in several other sections of the country, including Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Texas and Colorado.

Beloit Man Faces 2nd Degree Murder Charge:

Beloit—(P)—Allen Smith, 42, was held without bail today for a preliminary hearing next Tuesday on a charge of second degree murder in the death of his wife, Mable, 31, last Saturday.

He pleaded innocent when arraigned in municipal court yesterday.

Mrs. Smith died in an automobile parked beside a tavern near here. When a pathologist reported her death resulted from a brain concussion and general hemorrhage and that marks on her head indicated she had been struck, Police Chief Robert Blumer signed a warrant against Smith.

The warrant charges an unpremeditated act "while in a depraved mind."

The defense had called more than a dozen witnesses as it sought to prove Mrs. Lutzke had been in fear of her husband, that he had been cruel and that he had threatened to kill her.

Courtroom spectators greeted the jury's verdict of innocence with applause.

Embezzler Is Taken to Waupun to Begin Term

West Bend—(P)—Max E. Podell, Milwaukee insurance adjuster, was taken to Waupun today to begin serving a one-year prison sentence for embezzlement.

Podell, convicted in circuit court last fall of embezzling $700 from Alvin Roemer, Washington county farmer, in an accident settlement case surrendered to the sheriff shortly before noon. The trip to Waupun was begun immediately.

New Deal Is Attempting to Compensate in Other States For Pope's Defeat in Idaho

Statement Backing Camp May be Followed By Others

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington — The Roosevelt administration apparently is trying to compensate in Georgia and possibly other states for the resounding defeat of James P. Pope of Idaho.

New Deal senator

This was the interpretation given today by some well-informed persons to the speech with which President Roosevelt followed Pope's downfall by endorsing Federal Attorney Lawrence Camp for the Georgia seat of Senator Walter E. George.

Pope was beaten by Representative D. Worth Clark, an out-and-out conservative. Against this administration loss were the overwhelming renomination of Senator Robert J. Bulkley in Ohio and the victory of Senator Hatfield Caraway in Arkansas.

The president indicated his favor for both of the latter last month when he also asked Kentucky Democrats to renominate Senate Leader Barkley. On western trip Mr. Roosevelt avoided coming out against any anti-administration senators, confining himself merely to boosting his friends.

"Purge" Live Issue

His unequivocal support of Camp yesterday, however, showed the much-discussed party "purge" was more than a figure of speech.

The president's action in Georgia raises the question: Will he now intervene against conservative Senators Smith in South Carolina and Tydings in Maryland and possibly Lonigan in Connecticut? All have New Deal opponents.

Meanwhile, Republican Chairman John Hamilton said Pope's defeat is another repudiation by American voters of President Roosevelt's demand for the election this year of only "yes men" subservient to his will.

The defeat of Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio, along with Senator Barkley's recent renomination in Kentucky, was described by John L. Lewis as "a complete vindication of the progressive policies of the CIO and Labor's Non-Partisan League."

HITS "MISREPRESENTATIONS"

Atlanta — Senator Walter F. George in a radio address yesterday described as "slanderous or ignorant misrepresentations" the charges of campaign opponents that he represented big business in the senate.

"Let me tell you, my friends," the senator said, "that when any man asking for the highest office within the gift of the people of this state—when any man is unwilling or afraid to go justice to big business, middle-sized business or little business, that man will sell you down the creek whenever it is politically possible for him to do it."

Points to His Record

"I know that when I voted for vocational education for our farm boys and girls, even against the threat of a presidential veto, that I was not fighting for big business."

"I know that when I was fighting for the soldiers of the World War . . . I was not fighting for big business. Yet six times have I taken the floor in the senate to override a presidential veto of bills that had been passed for the benefit of our veterans, or for their widows or orphans."

"I know," he continued, "that when I advocated bank deposit insurance, banking reform, mobilization of the gold reserve, control of the stock and commodity exchanges, I was not fighting for big business."

"I was fighting then—intelligently, I hope—for every small business man in this nation. But I am not afraid to represent every legitimate business in this state."

Taxing Power Must Be Checked in State.

Heil Says at Shawano

Shawano — Julius P. Heil, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, declared today that unless a checkmark is put on the power to tax thousands of our people will be nothing more than wards of the state."

Heil spoke at an open air rally here.

He charged the present state administration had been the most extravagant in Wisconsin's history.

"You good citizens who till the soil, and so who employ workers are destined to be taxed out of business," Heil said. "Your help will be thrown upon the already over-loaded relief agencies unless by your ballot you eject from office the political machines that are sucking the lifeblood of business with their disregard for ability to pay!"

in an unchecked power to tax."

New Deal Friction In Primaries May Cost Senate Seats

President Has Played Poorest Kind of Politics,
Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The Roosevelt administration has won some pyrrhic victories this week, which is but another way of saying that the friction in the primaries may cost the new tories next autumn at least two seats in the senate and add two to the Republican total.

Thus, in Ohio, the Roosevelt endorsed candidate, Senator Bulkley, has won the primary, but the vote for former Governor White, if added to the Republican total, may result in the election of the Republican nominee for the senate, Robert A. Taft, in November.

Likewise, in Idaho, where the issue was drawn even more sharply as between pro-administration and anti-administration views, the protest vote may possibly be found expressing itself through the Republican nominee for the senate.

Senator Bulkley's position in Ohio has been precarious ever since he deserted his conservative friends, who helped elect him originally, and went along with President Roosevelt's shocking proposal to tamper with supreme court decisions by adding justices of his own choosing who would conform to his doctrines. Ohio has a definitely conservative trend, especially in the rural districts, notwithstanding the big majority polled by Mr. Roosevelt in 1936. Senator Bulkley had a very large Republican support when he ran in 1932, and the reports from the Buckeye state are that he may lose much of it this time because of his vote on the supreme court issue.

New Deal Will Lose
As for Idaho, whether the final count shows that Senator Pope, who ran on a pro-Roosevelt platform, is nominated, or his opponent, the administration is bound to lose. For, in the possible nomination and election of Mr. Pope's Democratic opponent, the tories would lose a vote, whereas, with the renomination of Senator Pope, the chances of a Republican senator being elected in Idaho are considerably improved.

The effect of the primary election fights in the northern states is an entirely different proposition from the primaries in states where the Democratic nomination is equivalent to an election. The new tories here do not sense this difference till it is too late, though they surrendered in Indiana in time. They became convinced finally that the protest vote in the Democratic party plus a substantial Republican vote, either might force the reelection of Senator Van Nuys and cause the loss of some local Democratic candidates, or else, through the split, bring about the election of a Republican senator with a large number of local Republican candidates.

It was, however, only because Senator Van Nuys insisted on running as an independent that the new tories here capitulated.

The "purge" method has been carried on relentlessly, however, in other states, with the possibility that the protest vote will either be lined up behind an independent candidate, or else forced over to the Republican side.

Administration Issues

It is difficult to see what the administration has gained by allowing pro and anti-administration issues to be made a part of the primary contests of the various states. It only serves to force to the surface and mobilize more cohesively the anti-administration sentiment. The Gallup polls show that, where there is a 30 per cent Democratic split-off, the Republicans can win a substantial number of seats.

Chairman Jim Farley, who has more political sense than all the new tories combined, not excluding the president himself, begged his associates not to intervene in the party primaries. As a practical politician, he knew the price that would have to be paid. He knew, moreover, the history of such efforts and that, on the whole, they had done far more harm than good. The net result of the whole "purge" idea is to begin a bitter internal fight and make voters conscious of the pro and anti-administration issues many weeks in advance of the November elections, thus accentuating the split in the Democratic party.

To date, the administration has succeeded in getting the nominations for its hand-picked choices in Oklahoma, Kentucky and Ohio by substantial margins, whereas the outcome in Arkansas, Idaho and Oregon was about even up. The administration, moreover, suffered defeats in Indiana and Missouri, where independent-minded Democrats have been nominated, and it remains to be seen whether Ohio, Idaho and Oregon may not elect Republican senators after all.

In an off-year election, when party harmony is more desirable than at any other time because there is no "top" of the ticket with national appeal to pull local candidates through, the president and his amateur brain-trust politicians have played the poorest kind of politics. The full effects of their strategy will be felt in the next session of congress when the so-called coalition of independent Democrats and Republicans will be stronger not only in the senate, but in the house of representatives.

In the steaming jungles of Borneo, our work was considerably hampered by Sir Whimsy's terrifying fear of head hunters and cannibals. One day, we found ourselves quite lost. We greatly feared we had wandered into the head-hunter country. Sir Whimsy was beside himself. Suddenly, as we came upon a high bluff above a tropical river, we heard a terrifying voice from the river bank below. 'Oh,' cried Sir Whimsy. 'We are lost, we are lost!' But when his wails subsided, we heard a voice shouting: 'Pass me a bottle of Blatz Old Heidelberg, or I'll cut your blinkin' head off!' 'Ah! Thank heaven,' cried Sir Whimsy with relief. Issues Draft of Proposed State Income Tax Blank

Attorneys and Accountants
Asked for Helpful Suggestions

A tentative draft of the simplified income tax blank to be used by Wisconsin taxpayers in reporting their 1938 returns has been sent to attorneys and accountants throughout the state by John A. Thiel, director of the Wisconsin Tax commission. The simplified income tax blank will affect 450,000 taxpayers and eliminates two pages of questions.

The new blank consists of a page and a half of information and all unnecessary questions have been eliminated. The new form will be used by taxpayers whose income is derived from salary, wages, interest, dividends and rent.

An added simplification is the elimination of the requirement of obtaining the signatures of two witnesses. On the simplified blank the signature of the taxpayer only is necessary, and he will no longer be required to perform the troublesome task of obtaining witnesses.

Director Thiel pointed out that the tax computation by the taxpayer cannot be eliminated from the blank at the present time because this computation is required by law.

Letters accompanying the tentative draft sent out ask that the attorneys and accountants make suggestions how the proposed form can be improved and clarified.

Many Bids Are Lost on Initial Play

BY ELY CULBERTSON
The number of contracts thrown away on the very first play is simply amazing! And the saddest part of it is that this type of error usually springs from the insistence of the average declarer to "get in and start cashing tricks." In short, many players are cursed with an immediacy complex; I greatly fear that the contract in today's hand would be muffed from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Calif.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 spades Pass 3 no trump Pass
4 spades Pass 5 diamonds Pass
6 spades Pass Pass Pass

The contract certainly was sound and it was too bad that declarer's play left something to be desired.

West opened the heart king and declarer, without a moment's thought, pounced on it with the spade nine and drew trumps. He then blithely laid down the ace and king of clubs, only to be brutally awakened from his dream by West's failure to follow to the second round. Unfortunately, there was nothing declarer could do at this stage to save his skin. For want of anything better, he doggedly cashed the rest of his trumps, but no miraculous squeeze could develop. East, of course, held grimly to his club protection, his hand matching declarer's with three diamonds and two clubs, while West also kept three diamonds and the ace and one heart.

As mentioned earlier, the contract had been lost on the very first play. I grant that it is a "natural" thing for the declarer to ruff the opening lead, but in bridge the natural impulse often must be resisted. There was nothing remote about the break declarer found in the club suit—indeed, mathematically stated, there were 32 chances in 100 that the suit would not break 3-2. The point is, however, that declarer had a losing diamond in both hands which, obviously, he would have to concede at the end. Then, why not concede it immediately? The result of such concession could not be accurately predicted, but it could do no harm and might be extremely valuable. Actually, it would have salvaged the contract. Let us follow this line of play.

Declarer throws a diamond on the heart king. West shifts to a diamond and dummy wins. Declarer draws the outstanding trumps then starts to cash the clubs. On the second round West shows out. Declarer persists in cashing the club queen and all his trumps but one. This stage is automatically reached: declarer has one trump, one diamond, and one low club. West must keep the heart ace and, therefore, can keep only the Q-10 of diamonds. Dummy has the heart queen and the A-5 of diamonds. East must hold the club jack and his other cards are the J-10 of diamonds. Declarer now cashes the last trump. West cannot let go the heart ace, hence must reduce to one diamond. Dummy thereupon lets go the heart queen. East cannot relinquish the club jack, hence also must reduce to one diamond. Dummy's five of diamonds becomes good.

It is a perfect double squeeze, and all because declarer gave up his losing trick at the right time!

My Neighbor Says

Pansy seed should be sown alone. Pansies like rich soil in which there is plenty of well rotted manure. It is well to make raised beds about three feet wide, digging them over until the soil is fine and smooth. The seeds may be sown in shallow drills two inches apart and covered very lightly. Some growers use only a little sand over the seed. It is important to give the soil a good wetting down after the seeds have been sown. Washing the seed out is avoided by using a fine spray or by extending a strip of burlap over the bed, allowing the water to flow gently over it. It is well to cover the bed with moss, to retain the moisture until the seedlings appear.

When the upholstery of a chair or davenport is in good condition but out of harmony in color and design with other things in the room, a slip-cover may be used to produce more attractive combinations.

Famous Airplane Flights

IV—AROUND THE WORLD

When Wiley Post and Will Rogers met their death in Alaska three years ago, millions of people felt deeply sorry about their loss. An airplane accident had taken the lives of two famous men, each doing worthwhile things in his own field.

It happened in this way. While in a Texas oil field, Post lost his left eye when he was struck by a metal chip. He was awarded $2,000 in damages, and with this money he bought his first airplane.

The first notice Post won in aviation came through his parachute jumps. In 1930 he was first in an air race from Chicago to Los Angeles, making the distance in nine hours and nine minutes.

A year later, Post joined Harold Gatty in a plan to fly around the world. The flight was made, and it set a new record. In eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes, the two airmen circled the globe.

In 1939 Wiley Post made the same trip again—this time all by himself. Aboard the same airplane, the "Winnie Mae," he flew from New York to Koenigsberg, Germany, then on to Moscow. From there he winged his way eastward, making several more stops in Russia. He stopped in Fairbanks, Alaska, then in Edmonton, Alberta.

From Edmonton, Post sped to New York, and landed in Floyd Bennett field after seven days, 18 hours and 49 minutes of travel. He had covered a distance of 15,595 miles.

That record stood as the best until Howard Hughes made his great journey a short time ago. Wiley Post deserves to rank high in the history of aviation.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Nicely trimmed eyebrows and carefully rouged lips help to make eyeglasses more attractive. But the way you do your hair is very important too.

Some beauty authorities stress eye make-up if you must wear eyeglasses, but I stress hair styling.

In the first place, if your eyes are so weak that constant use of glasses is necessary, the less you tamper with them the better. The simplest care of daily bathing with a reliable lotion, and healing drops prescribed by your oculist, should be the extent of your fussing. Plenty of rest and eye exercise, of course, but no mascara nor eye shadow nor pencil.

But if you are the sleek type, and comb your hair back from your face, then you must accent your eyeglasses, but I stress hair styling and lip rouge.

In the second place, the manner in which you rouge your lips is most important. Try two lip sticks. The lighter color for the upper lip, the deeper tone for the lower lip. Liquid lip rouge painted on with a fine brush and a steady hand, is the most lasting.

It takes a little practice to apply it well, but it is worth the effort in the end.

Touch up your brows, yes, and keep them trim. But do not pluck them to a thin line. Many physicians offer the opinion that too frequent plucking of the eyebrows weakens the eyes. So you see?

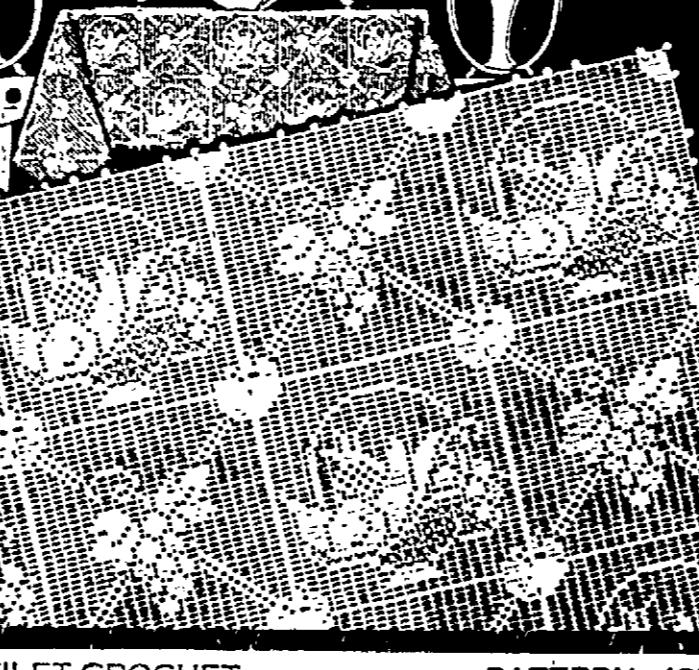

Concentrate on Hair and Lips

Put on your glasses and sit before your mirror. Comb your hair softly around your face. Change only when we are young, and in time that, too, changes into a beautiful friendship, if it lasts at all.

In most cases hair brought down softly over the ears, fluffed a bit to fall out on the cheek, just below the ear shaft of the glasses, is the most flattering.

Dorothy Dix Advocates Marriage for Widows

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—When my husband, whom I had been married for twenty happy years, died I thought that I was done with all thoughts of love and marriage and that I would spend the balance of my life being faithful to his memory, but a dear friend, whom I have known ever since my high school days has asked me to be his wife. The feeling that I have for him is like a sister's love for her brother. Great affection and friendship, respect and admiration, but it has nothing of the passion that I feel for my husband. I have told my friend just how I feel and he says that he will be perfectly satisfied with imperfect love. For myself I might refuse this offer of marriage, but I am proud and can give my children none of the advantages that their father might have given them had he lived. This man is both able and willing to provide for the children. He is very fond of them and they love him dearly, thus there would be no stepfather problem. It is only the fear of appearing inconsistent to my husband that makes me wonder whether I should marry. D. K.

Answer: By all means take the good that the gods have provided for you and thank heaven for the luck that has fallen you and your children.

Don't let any silly, sentimental thought about being faithful to your husband's memory keep you from marrying this good man. Many women make that mistake. They have some sort of an idea that they prove their devotion to their dead husbands by spending the balance of their lives mourning over them and watering their graves with their tears.

I have known widows who were mourning for twenty and thirty years, who never went anywhere except to church and who cut themselves off from all the joy and sunshine of life, though why they thought it would add anything to the happiness of saints in glory for the wives they had left behind them to lead miserable, unprofitable lives not even they could explain.

If those who have passed on to the other world know that you have a strong man to protect you and the children and to provide you with comforts instead of you being forced to exist meagerly and toil and strive to keep the wolf from the door.

I heartily advocate the remarriage of young widows. Death has written "finis" to one chapter of their lives. That is ended, but there is no reason why they should not begin another one that may bring them even greater happiness than the first, and that, at any rate, will not leave the pages of their lives so blank as they will be if they live alone. For being married unfits a woman for single blessedness.

Having been at the head of her own house she cannot fit into any other woman's house, and if she tries to run her own house it is empty with no man in it. There is no kick in getting up good meals if there is no man to eat them. She misses the strong arm on which she has leaned. She misses having some body to go about with. She misses even her husband's grumbling and having somebody to talk with and blame for everything that goes wrong.

Many young widows refrain from marrying for fear of giving their children a stepfather who will not be kind to them. This is a very amorous gesture, because many men are jealous of their stepchildren and so it behooves a woman who is thinking of marrying a second time to be very certain that she is getting a man who is not only fond of children, but who has the wisdom and patience to deal with adolescents.

But, even so, the widow has to think of herself as well as her children. In a very few years they will be grown and gone from the home nest, and in the meantime she may have let the years pass in which she could have married again and established her own home. And it is far better for Mother to have done that than to be dependent upon them.

Do not worry because you are not so romantically in love with this man as you were with your husband. That sort of love comes only when we are young, and in time that, too, changes into a beautiful friendship, if it lasts at all.

IN VITATION TO LUNCH

Dear Mrs. Post: I intend to invite to lunch the wives of some of my husband's branch men who are coming to town for a business meeting.

I have never met any of these wives but thought it would be nice to have them at the house while their husbands are busy.

Will a visiting card invitation be suitable to send them or how would you suggest going about it?

The idea seems unconventional since they are strangers, but I feel that a gesture of hospitality would not be amiss and that ordinary rules of formality would not have to hold in such a case.

Answer: I think you are entirely right, but I do not think a visiting card would be as suitable as note paper on this particular occasion, since it is necessary that you make an explanation, as it were, of your invitation. If I were you, I would write them short notes on the first page of sheets of note paper, and say almost exactly what you said in your letter to me.

Although I have never had the pleasure of meeting you personally, I am hoping that since our husbands are friends, and are away all day together at the convention (or whatever it is) you will lunch with me on such and such a day at such and such a time. I am asking Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Green who are also here with their husbands. Hoping so much that you will all be able to come. Very sincerely yours,

MRI. X AND MRS. Y

Dear Mrs. Post: Mr. X (a friend of mine) entertained for his out-of-town friends, Mr. and Mrs. Y and Mr. Z. We went to dinner in a restaurant where there was dancing, and my friend Mr. X asked Mrs. Y if she cared to dance before he asked me. Isn't it customary for the first dance to be shared with a man's own companion before asking ladies in the group?

Answer: Since Mr. X was giving the dinner, especially for the Y's and Mr. Z, Mrs. Y, who was a stranger was obviously the guest of honor, and he should certainly have seated her on his right and also asked her to dance first. If Mr. X is merely "a friend of yours" don't quite know what you mean by "companion"—I see no reason why he should have asked you first any way. But even if you and he are engaged, he should on that one particular occasion have given first consideration to the stranger for whom he was giving the dinner.

You should have danced first with Mr. Y, or else with Mr. Z, his guest of honor.

State Pays Only 12 Per Cent Share Of Relief in June

Commitments of Local Governments Total $838,000 During Month

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — That general relief is a burden which falls heavily on local governments was reiterated once more today when the state public welfare department made public an analysis of June expenditures in Wisconsin which disclosed that the state government contributed 12.4 per cent of a total monthly expenditure of $857,183 to 87.6 per cent for local units of government.

During the month of June relief commitments cost the local governments a total of $838,219, while the state relief fund supplied only $118,966, the study shows, including $7,061 for transient camps, which the state supports exclusively.

In the two typical counties, neither entirely industrial nor completely rural, Outagamie and Brown the state supplied 6.1 per cent and 2.9 per cent, respectively, of the total June relief costs. In June, Outagamie county spent $13,378 for relief, while Brown spent $16,733. Moreover the percentage of state aids to both counties included the state grants to the Oneida-Hobart Indian relief agency.

The distribution of relief costs is shown more clearly in the following tabulation prepared by welfare department statisticians, showing the relative burden on state and local governments in the northeastern Wisconsin counties:

Count State Pet. Local Pet.

Brown 29 97.1

Outagamie 61 93.9

Waupaca 80 92.0

Shawano 32.9 67.1

Calumet 10.1 29.9

Manitowoc 4.5 95.5

Winnebago 24 97.6

It may be noted that Shawano county is one of the counties which have been receiving emergency state relief aids in addition to the regular grants for public welfare departments.

In spite of millions spent in research, neither Goodyear nor any other tire manufacturer can eliminate the possibility of sudden tire failure. No tire is blow-out proof. No tire is puncture proof. Therefore, no motorist is safe from the dangers of tire failure.

The Life Guard has a 2-ply reserve tire inside the conventional tube. Both are inflated through the same valve. If casing and tube fail, this inner tire holds enough air to support the car until it can be brought to a smooth, controlled stop.

COALITION AND TWO POLITICAL PARTIES

In the political arena it has never been the American idea to crack down too hard with arbitrary rules lest men be denied the opportunity to present themselves and their policies to the public.

Certainly in a land where prohibitionists, socialists, social laborists, communists, populists, unionists and others have been accorded full privileges on national tickets although in fifty years of effort no one of them ever made a show of success besides capturing the fancy of different species of disgruntled people for a short time, it will never be said we have been too strict.

But it may be asserted, with a commendable degree of safety nonetheless that if our laws limited us to two political parties no one would ever have lost a material right and the nation would have advanced at least as far upon the highway called democracy as it finds itself today. Perhaps much further.

Governor LaFollette's idea in establishing a third party is based upon the assertion that neither of the old parties presents Simon-pure progressive ideas the way they should be presented. When the governor's hair is a little grayer he will discover that there are rights and lefts in every movement, even among the Reds, yes, even among the anarchists who want no government but don't know exactly how they want nothing.

It would have been easier, simpler and more direct for the Progressives, those who want more elasticity in the rules that have guided us, the public, to have taken over one of the great parties, preferably the Democratic because so many men of similar thought are now occupying prominent places in that party. But of course there is the example of the Republican party that was given birth when the Whigs ceased to function vigorously and there is the record of that party, brilliant and constructive throughout the most trying generations in American history.

It is but natural that reds and pinks and lavenders consider it possible to create political parties and eventually swing the nation, but the more we aim our political activities at dividing majorities into uncertain slices the more we will certainly weaken democracy. And it is wise to remember that democracy cannot function at all in any true sense of the word unless it is robust and vigorous, hard-fisted and well-muscled.

With the name of political parties the voter should pay as little attention as possible. With the theories and the leadership he should expend his time and understanding.

Every honest effort, in this state or elsewhere, to maintain majority rule should be supported. The progressives in Wisconsin dropped adherence with the Republicans in order, they said, to create a party that would express the will of the people.

The coalition ticket, headed by Mr. Henry, is the natural reaction to the LaFollette step.

The people should confine their suffrage in this state to the ticket headed by the present governor or Mr. Henry.

Other efforts, while lawful, are trivial. They represent merely the struggle of individuals to get or retain present power. And they represent little beyond that.

ATROPHY OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

No one familiar with the history of the American Medical Association is going to deny the excellent service it has performed in raising professional standards, destroying the most vicious aspects of quackery, and stimulating constant endeavor toward the solution of the ills that torture mankind. To the lasting praise of thousands of its members must be added the constant willingness to help remedy those in distress who happen to be without funds.

But other things can be brought to the fore upon which the Association's attitude has been indefensible.

For instance, in many large cities where public spirited citizens of great wealth have advanced millions of dollars to establish public health bureaus in order to bring medical relief to the poor, the Association has acted in a narrow manner merely because these bureaus have found it necessary to advertise widely in order to acquaint the people with their advantages. These advertisements, sometimes full page in order to attract attention, have published a fee service that is merely nominal but helps these worthy poor to maintain their spirit with the thought that they are paying something toward their care. How else could the afflicted learn of the bureaus? No man is so poor but he can buy a newspaper.

But here the sacred cow of the Association was gored. It has issued the edict that there must be no advertising. Those who violate this rule are as lepers on the road to Jerusalem, unclean and forever damned. In instances the Association has gone so far as to prevent the doctors employed by such bureaus from using hospitals under the Association's wing or influence. And it has otherwise followed and persecuted men who have been motivated by only the highest and best of human purposes. This action was altogether unreasonable, stolid and unworthy.

If the Association cannot draw a rule so as to permit the relief of poverty-stricken individuals at the hands of doctors and philanthropists who would save them then its cerebrum is not functioning with desirable activity.

SENATOR CLARK OF MISSOURI

Senator Clark's renomination was not unexpected but the size of his vote was. He smashed opposition into smithereens. In a state so often evenly divided he found exceptional support.

No doubt this condition was brought about by his courage and the public admiration for it.

Senator Clark opposed a great many of the President's pet schemes such as the AAA and the undistributed profits tax. Moreover he stood out distinctly and challenged in no uncertain terms the Roosevelt effort to take over the supreme court and to become a virtual dictator through the so-called government reorganization bill.

When Mr. Clark was attacked at home for failing to support the President he declared he considered it his duty as a Democrat "to follow the recommendations of the President whenever he could, but if thoroughly convinced that they were wrong to vote against them." He also declared that he intended to cling tenaciously to the American system of government as set up by the constitution and that he would fight to the last ditch any encroachment by the executive upon either the judiciary or the congress.

Mr. Clark was no weakling. And certainly he was no mere follower with head bent down. He was all man, independent and unafraid, willing to lose his position rather than become a mere Farley rubber stamp.

The vote in Missouri shows that that sort of a man is still appreciated by the people.

MORE SKILLED LABOR ON THE STREET

The Scripps newspaper syndicate has abandoned its newspaper at Toledo and closed shop. This is unusual when it is considered that Toledo with a population of about 291,000 had only one other evening newspaper.

But newspapers, like everything else, have been falling by the wayside and thousands of skilled and competent men have found themselves jobless simply because New Deal burdens have forced owners to abandon hope which was about the only thing that kept some of them going.

The fact that Hearst closed up newspapers in a variety of cities including such populous and prosperous places as New York, Omaha and Rochester was but a sign of the times. Scores of others have more quietly surrendered the ghost and gone to their graves.

It is but natural that reds and pinks and lavenders consider it possible to create political parties and eventually swing the nation, but the more we aim our political activities at dividing majorities into uncertain slices the more we will certainly weaken democracy. And it is wise to remember that democracy cannot function at all in any true sense of the word unless it is robust and vigorous, hard-fisted and well-muscled.

With the name of political parties the voter should pay as little attention as possible. With the theories and the leadership he should expend his time and understanding.

Every honest effort, in this state or elsewhere, to maintain majority rule should be supported. The progressives in Wisconsin dropped adherence with the Republicans in order, they said, to create a party that would express the will of the people.

The people should confine their suffrage in this state to the ticket headed by the present governor or Mr. Henry.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

I MUST LEARN TO BE ALONE

I must learn to be alone.
These young lives that surge about me
I control, but do not own!
They will learn to do without me.

I will sit, as evening falls,
And the dark will not confound me,
When the silence fills the halls,
And no voices fall around me.

All the joys that were once mine
I will keep when I am lonely,
For the pattern is divine.
It was not made for me only.

I must learn to be alone!
Laugh, dear children, happy-hearted!
All the happiness I've known
Will be mine when we have parted.

SEEING WAR UNADORNED

England's democratization of her military officer corps was dictated by practical necessity. More officers were needed for her army than could come from the social and economic class that traditionally had supplied her officer personnel.

But in a broader sense the steps announced by the War Secretary, Leslie Hore-Belisha, are belated shucking off by British of the roman-

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

Dale Harrison's
In Old New York

New York—It was Homer Rodeheaver, if my memory is any good, who used to lead Billy Sunday revival meetings in singing:

"The brewers' big horses Won't run over me."

This was sort of double-talk. Mr. Rodeheaver wasn't really afraid the horses would run over him. He meant he wouldn't let beer get him down.

Brewers' big horses are just about gone now from New York streets. Colonel Jacob Ruppert, who probably has owned more brewery horses than any other man in New York, has just retired his last two Percherons to idyllic horse happiness on his broad acres at Garrison, New York.

Col. Ruppert used to give work to as many as 500 horses at a time. That's a lot of oats to buy. Even when the motor truck began giving its gasoline snort of disdain to all horseflesh, the Ruppert Percherons still held their heads high. They did not know that the Reverend Billy Sunday was violently opposed to the amber product in the barrels they hauled so contentedly. If they had known, I doubt if they would have cared.

The town will never see the life of proud, rugged horseflesh. Many were the parades down Fifth Avenue in which the brewers' big horses, gaily harnessed and brilliantly festooned, drew murmurs of admiration from the crowd.

Steek, strong, capable and confident, they were a vital part of the city's life. Their passing wipes still more color from the Manhattan canvas of romance.

In the heyday of horses, about 40 years ago, there were a quarter of a million of them usefully employed in the city. Today the number is down to about 10,000. Some look mighty poorly. This is true especially of those pathetic beasts whose life is to haul the butcher's and peddler's light wagon through the streets. Their owners seem just about able to eke out a slender existence. There is little money left for hay and oats.

The milk companies, slower to motorize deliveries than others, still find the horse valuable, and their horses are a comfort to see—well fed, well groomed and content.

The police department was on the point of discontinuing all mounts a few years ago. Public sentiment asserted itself, for New Yorkers love the sight of mounted policemen galloping fearlessly among the traffic-jammed motorcars and bringing order out of chaos. The mounted officer, too, has an advantage over both the motorcycle policeman and the officers who cruise the city in squad cars, for from his elevation on a horse's back he has a clear view of crowds; and with a well trained steed under him he is far more effective in dispersing troublemakers than is an officer on foot.

Another time one of Mr. Dickstein's witnesses back-fired on him. The representative was questioning Ernst Schmitz, representative in America of the German tourist offices. It had been the practice of the German steamer lines and tourist services to provide free trips to Germany for artists, newspaper men, and lecturers who, they hoped, would see the "true picture" of the new Germany.

But Mr. Schmitz testified that Mr. Dickstein, as chairman of the House immigration committee, also had asked for a free ticket.

Mr. Dickstein said, however, that he never got a free trip, but paid $500 for it.

"I have got a different statement from the manager of the North German Lloyd, who tells me you got a high-class accommodation at minimum rates for it," said Mr. Schmitz.

"I want to tell you the accommodation was not so good," Mr. Dickstein retorted.

Dickstein Out, Dies In

Mr. Dickstein sought to head the current "ism" investigation but the House leadership sidestepped him, left him off the committee entirely and put Representative Dies at the top.

Instead of inviting incidents such as the Butler affair, Dies plans to attempt to measure the "true weight" of such movements as communism, nazism and fascism. He seems to doubt whether that has been done by previous inquiries. As side issues he may:

—Investigate whether communism is responsible for the labor unrest in the automobile industry.

—Investigate whether there is enough anti-labor "vigilantism" to constitute a subversive influence.

Nails were being scatored on the Neenah-Menasha road to the annoyance of automobile owners.

Detroit dispatch said Manager Griff of the Washington baseball team was to make an offer within the next three days of $100,000 in cash for the purchase of Ty Cobb.

H. A. Schmitz returned from Milwaukee where he attended the state convention of German Catholic Benevolent societies.

Secretary Daniel P. Steinberg was lining up some splendid exhibits for the machinery department of Fox River Valley fair which was to open Sept. 16.

Edna Ferber's story, "The Girl Who Went Right," was being published in the Saturday Evening Post.

It is the government's first venture into the hotel business, the big hostilities in the national parks having been built by private capital.

Portland businessmen will tell you, however, that this is one federal intrusion into industry they don't resent. For years they have been trying to get a hotel worthy of Mount Hood's scenic grandeur, and when they saw a chance to finance it through the WPA they put up $20,000 of their own money for surveys and general "missionary" work.

Uncle Sam finally got interested, and came in with a cool million dollars.

500 Got Jobs

That million put 400 men to work at Timberline and 100 other persons, largely women, at work in Portland making furnishings.

WPA folk here like to contrast the result of their labors with the murals and sculptures their artistic WPA colleagues have produced at other places.

It is impossible to reconcile this business conception of war with that typified by the saber-flashing rider who ended up, or aspired to, as an equestrian statue. The statues are erected nowadays to the unknown soldier and later on may be erected, if any are, to the unknown occupant of the baby buggy.

The British certainly know war's ugliness quite as well as anybody but are more loath to part with what is traditional. After the World War they went right back to the polite statuary by which entrance to Sandhurst, and Woolwich have been restricted, in the main, to those of heroic birth and breeding. It took the even grimmer realism of post-war war preparations to force a clean break at last with the romantic tradition.—The Detroit News.

Farmers' cooperative associations have added more than a half-million members to their ranks in the past decade.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—A House committee is resuming the perennial hunt for nazi, fascist, communist and other subversive influences. Rep. Martin Dies, of Texas, master of the hunt, hopes to conduct the chase in a dignified and conclusive manner, with as few headlines as possible.

Hunting subversive influences has always been a great sport in Washington although he would be a foolish jolt who Grover thought the huntsmen were not serious about it.

Perhaps the most famous recent hunt was conducted by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York. For days end Mr. Fish had the country's headlines to himself as he conducted, in the pre-Roosevelt days, a chase of communists. That occurred in the days when this country had not formally recognized Russia and was under no restraints to be polite. Besides, the Russian government at that time (and some will say yet) was committed to the international revolution.

Mr. Fish was not satisfied with hunting communists in this country but went to Russia with the idea of sort of "bringing one back alive."

It brought back a live issue that has served as the subject of many congressional speeches by the tall congressman.

Remember General Butler?

Undoubtedly the most persistent hunter of subversive influences in the country is Representative Dickstein of New York. In 1934 he began an investigation that filled two large volumes of printed testimony. Since then he has filled many pages of the Congressional Record.

At one time Representative Dickstein had General Smedley D. Butler as a witness to tell a story of proposals made to him that he had an organization of veterans designed to set up a "facist" type of government in the United States. Butler insisted he was interested in maintaining a democracy and would have nothing to do with it.

Another time one of Mr. Dickstein's witnesses back-fired on him. The representative was questioning Ernst Schmitz, representative in America of the German tourist offices. It had been the practice of the German steamer lines and tourist services to provide free trips to Germany for artists, newspaper men, and lecturers who, they hoped, would see the "true picture" of the new Germany.

But Mr. Schmitz testified that Mr. Dickstein, as chairman of the House immigration committee, also had asked for a free ticket.

Mr. Dickstein said, however, that he never got a free trip, but paid $500 for it.

Cheese Price Plan 'Closest to What We Need'—Mulloy

Former Head of Publicity
Association Addresses
Parley Here

Terming the present cheese price-fixing arrangement in Wisconsin "worn out," H. P. Mulloy, former president of the Wisconsin Cheese Publicity association, told delegates at a convention of the association here yesterday that the proposal of the state department of agriculture and markets for a price-fixing committee "is the closest to what we need of anything that has been suggested."

Mulloy pointed to the department's plan for having three cheese producers on the committee as significant. "Right now there is no cheese producer who has anything to do with it," he said.

Mulloy is now a cheese producer in Valley City, N. D. He was the principal speaker at the convention's main business session yesterday afternoon at Copper Kettle.

Urge Advertising

"This doesn't mean that I'm all for scrapping the Plymouth board," Mulloy said. "But I think the cheese industry should get to the state department and insist on both a price-fixing committee and bargaining committee. Then back this, bargaining committee up with an advertising and promotion budget."

Cheese associations are not acting wisely in passing resolutions condemning the price-fixing committee plan advocated by the state department, Mulloy said.

He advised cheese producers to "let the department know you like parts of the ideas" and said that he differed with Charles Broughton, Sheboygan publisher, who has consistently criticized the department for its proposal.

Disagrees With Broughton

"Broughton is all for the cheese producers. I know that," Mulloy said. "But I'd stand up and argue with him all day on this issue. I think he's a little bit mistaken on his idea."

The former association head urged the producers to launch promotion and advertising campaigns to make Wisconsin cheese better known. "You can't get anywhere without a good sales promotion program," he declared. "Without it, you're bound to fail."

The association voted yesterday to reduce its directorate from 15 to nine members. One director, J. P. Reif, Peshtigo, was reelected. Other members whose terms on the board did not expire are C. C. Brick, Beloit; E. S. Byers, Marion; C. J. Ebert, Gresham; F. E. Turner, Dalton; Guy G. Friday, Viola; John Roels, West DePere; A. C. Frelfark, Peshtigo.

Prisoner Who Escaped
From Reformatory 13
Years Ago Is Caught

Fred Tiffany, 34, formerly of Neenah, who escaped from the state reformatory at Green Bay 13 years ago while serving a 1-year sentence for larceny, was apprehended by Langlade county authorities and yesterday returned to the reformatory by Earl H. Eklund, superintendent.

Tiffany had seven months of his term to serve when he escaped while working in a field near the reformatory. He will receive his old number 5168, while the current top number of the reformatory is 10,717. Eklund said it would remain for the board of control to decide whether Tiffany is to remain at the reformatory or go to Waupun. The prisoner may now face a fugitive charge when he completes his unfinished term. He had been sentenced in Winnebago county court at Oshkosh.

The prisoner said he worked on farms and kept moving about after his escape. "I'm glad to get it over with. Now I'll be able to sleep nights," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Van Wyk, route 2, Kaukauna, are the parents of a daughter, born Friday at their home.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ronse, 823 W. Spencer street, yesterday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider, route 1, Appleton, this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Bicyclist Breaks Arm
In Traffic Accident

Albert Mielke, 45, 518 N. Richmond street, broke both bones in his right arm in a bicycle-auto collision at 7:45 last night on Prospect avenue. The collision occurred as Mielke, on a bicycle, and Alvin W. Markman, 44, 1210 N. Superior street were going west and Markman began to make a left turn to go south on Memorial drive, according to a police report. Mielke was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

MISSING MAN FOUND

Rhinelander—(C) Louis Olson, 70, of Rhinelander, for whom a posse had searched two days, was found walking along the side of a road last night. He had been missing since Monday morning. He appeared little the worse for exposure to heavy rain and cold weather, and he slept in barns.

ORDERED FROM CITY

William Furlong, 50, Milwaukee, pleaded guilty of drunkenness when he appeared in municipal court this morning before Judge Fred V. Heinemann and was ordered to leave the city immediately. Furlong was arrested by city police.

BUILDING INSPECTOR

Albert C. Rule, former mayor, was named to the office of city building inspector by the council last night. He received the necessary seven votes on the 102nd ballot. The aldermen voted 87 times a week ago and 15 times last night before settling the matter.

Rule Is Building

that the election of the inspector be attempted at the next meeting.

The council didn't seem to object, but Alderman Steinbauer requested that the ballot on which they were working at the time be counted first. Keller amended his motion to fit Steinbauer's request, the ballots were counted, and Rule declared the winner.

40-Minutes In Committee

The council busied itself with other business matters the first half-hour. Then, at about 8 o'clock, Maynor Goodland asked for a committee of the whole meeting. A recess was declared, the mayor and aldermen filed out, and those who wanted to be building inspector and those who wanted to see who was going to be building inspector sat around and talked for about 40 minutes.

Assessments for paving of three streets in the Fourth ward were confirmed at last night's meeting and the clerk authorized to enter into contract with the low bidders, with work scheduled to start as soon as possible.

The Simpson and Parker company of Appleton is the low bidder on two of the paving projects; Fremont street from Oneida to Carpenter street, $22,885.55; and John street, from Walter avenue to South River street, $6,966.00. The Koepke Construction company will be given the contract for paving E. South River street from Oneida to Lawe, with a bid of $13,432.52.

Grants Board's Request

The council granted the board of education permission to use $15,000 from its fund to finish the remodeling work at the Carrie E. Morgan school. The board, in a letter to the council, explained that after a long wait, the project was well started, it was "found that not enough skilled labor had been engaged." These additional wages—not figured in the original cost plan—were paid out of the board of education fund.

Thirteen recommendations by the street and bridge committee were adopted at last night's meeting. Alderman Vanderheyden protested the committee's report, declaring it was a weak early.

"I won't vote on that report. I want to know more about it," he said.

Alderman Thompson, chairman of the committee, observed that "we are not responsible for what Alderman Vanderheyden doesn't know."

Votes 'No'

On the question, Vanderheyden was the only one not to approve the committee's report and voted "present." Later he changed it to a "no."

The first recommendation of the report was to install curb and gutter on the following streets as part of a WPA project and that the board of public works assess benefits and damages:

Washington streets, from Rankin to Catherine; Catherine street, from College avenue to Washington; Franklin street, from Meade to Catherine; Wood street, from Elzada to North; N. Story street, from College avenue to Franklin; Mueller street, from Prospect to Fifth.

Improvements

The succeeding 12 recommendations of the committee are as follows: (2) oiling Alicia street, from Gillett to Pine; (3) grading and graveling Arnold street; (4) building side walk on west side of Victoria street, from Spencer to Eighth, and an apron at Eighth street intersection; (5) building side walk on west side of Bouton street from Seymour to Verbrick and on east side of Bouton street from Verbrick street south to the present walk; (6) building sidewalk on south side of Rogers avenue at west end of street; (7) building apron on west side of Elm street at seventh street crossing.

(8) Re-building sidewalk on S. Jefferson street from N. 1519 to 1613 as WPA project; (9) Grading and graveling Maple street from Lawe to Carpenter, with benefits and damages assessed by board of public works; (10) repairing sidewalk on west side of Richmond street between Packard and Harris; (11) placing new wire fences at tennis courts at corner of Harrison and Monroe street and a 20-foot wing at northeast corner; (12) building new 48-inch re-inforced culvert in ravine on Fremont street at golf grounds; (13) advertising for bids on one or more cars of calcium chloride.

New Sidewalk

Referred to the committee was a request from four property owners for a sidewalk on Harris street from Outagamie street to 1508 W. Harris, north side of the street, and that a street light be installed at the intersection of Harris and Douglas streets.

The proposal to install water mains on Story street, between 13 and 4, and 5.

A letter from the Lions club thanking the city officials for their assistance in the Northwest Territory celebration held here last month was read by the city clerk.

Of Entering Home,

New London—Mrs. Andrew Hueber, 433 Quincy street, pleaded not guilty of unlawful entry in the nighttime and malicious destruction of property when she appeared before Justice Fred J. Rogers at 2:30 this morning.

Mrs. Hueber was arrested a short time after the home of Herman Platte, 15 E. Cook street, was entered and some of the furnishings cut to shreds with a knife.

This occurred about 9:30 in the evening and about 12 o'clock the Platte car was entered into six months in the county.

Subsequently, the board issued a decision in place of the Republic Steel order "proposed findings of fact" which officials said were largely identical with the original order.

The corporation was permitted to file exceptions to the proposals and oral argument was heard today on those exceptions.

Harland Krueger, Appleton, was sentenced by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court yesterday afternoon to six months in the county detention camp after pleading guilty of non-support. The complaint was signed by his wife.

ILY Skippers Take Lead Over Eastern Crews

Score 11 to 10 Victory Over Barnegat Bay Sailors in First Race

Neenah—Barnegat Bay Yacht Racing association jumped into an 11-point lead over inland Lakes Yachting association skippers in unofficial standings at the conclusion of the third race in the Inter-sectional Class E Boat regatta this noon. Some protests have been filed and the judges' decision will not be given until tomorrow. The two races this morning netted B. B. Y. R. A. a total of 31 points for three races and the I. L. Y. A. is trailing with 26 points.

In the first race of the morning a windward-leeward race, Samuel Merrick, B. B. Y. R. A., and his crew, sailing the Golly-Kell, owned by Charles Sage of the Neenah Nodaway Yacht club, took first place. Merrick also took first in the second race.

Other first race results: Martin Gibbon-Neff, B. B. Y. R. A., second; Runyon Cole, Jr., B. B. Y. R. A., third; Jim Friend, I. L. Y. A., fourth; Charles Winkler, I. L. Y. A., fifth; Don DeCoster, I. L. Y. A., sixth.

The second race was over the Lake Winnebago triangular course with Merrick first; Cole second; Winkler third; De Coster fourth; Friend fifth and Gibbon-Neff sixth.

Neenah—Inland Lakes Yacht association skippers took the lead in the inter-sectional "E" boat regatta with Barnegat Bay, N. J., skippers Wednesday afternoon in the first of the series of six races on the Neenah Nodaway Yacht club, scoring 11 points to 10 for the Barnegat Bay Yacht Racing association representatives.

The race was close with less than six minutes separating the elapsed time of the first and last boats. The time turned in by Morton Gibbon-Neff, Barnegat Bay skipper of Lady Luck who came in first, was excellent. He completed the eight-mile triangular course in 57 minutes, 34 seconds.

Gibbon-Neff took the lead at the end of the third leg just as he completed his first round of the triangular course. He went into the lead on a beat to the windward and held it to the end to lead Don DeCoster, ILY skipper of Dark Horse, across the finish by more than two minutes. DeCoster's time was 59 minutes, 53 seconds.

A minute behind in third place was another ILY skipper, James A. Friend, piloting Mistral. His time was 1 hour, 37 seconds.

Margin Is Narrow

Friend had a margin of only three seconds over Runyon Cole, Barnegat Bay skipper who was piloting Golly Kell, owned by C. H. Sage, Neenah. Cole's time was 1 hour, 40 seconds. The third ILY skipper was Robert Winkler, who brought his Three Winks home in fifth place with a time of 1 hour, 2 minutes, 32 seconds. The last boat to finish was Clarissima, piloted by Sam Merrick of the Barnegat Bay crew. His time was 1 hour, 3 minutes, 7 seconds.

The race was started at 3:26 Wednesday afternoon with the first boat finishing at 4:23:34 and the last coming in at 4:29:07. Originally scheduled to start Wednesday morning, the first race was postponed because of the twister which blew down the river early Wednesday morning and spilled the yachts riding at anchor. A spar on one of the boats was broken and it was necessary to send to Lake Geneva, Wis., for another. It arrived just in time to allow the crew to make repairs and get the boat to the starting line at the starting gun.

A series of six contests will determine the winner of the inter-sectional races. Two races were scheduled for today, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The crews will alternate among the six boats so that each crew will sail each yacht once during the course of the regatta.

Race Again Today

For the second race Robert Winkler was to skipper Mistral; Don DeCoster was to skipper Three Winks and Friend was to skipper Clarissima. They represent the ILYA.

The Barnegat Bay crews were assigned to Dark Horse with Gibbon-Neff; Lady Luck with Cole and Merrick with Golly Kell for the second race of the series. In the third race this afternoon DeCoster was assigned to Mistral; Friend to Golly Kell and Winkler to Clarissima for the ILYA. The New Jersey crews were assigned to Three Winks with Gibbon-Neff, Cole with Dark Horse and Merrick with Lady Luck for the third race.

Officials of the regatta are Henry Rubinkam, Chicago, chief judge; James C. Kimberly, ILYA judge; and Ross Pilling, Barnegat Bay judge.

Council Votes to Condemn Land for Opening of Street

Rejects Sale Offer of Former Mayor Held for Right-of-Way

Menasha—The city council voted to start condemnation proceedings against W. E. Held, former mayor, last night at a special meeting called by Mayor W. H. Jensen in order to purchase the east 30 feet of lot 8, block 5, Reed's addition. The land being sought faces on Ninth street and is necessary to open Warsaw street which now runs from Fifth street only as far as Sixth street. The vote to purchase the east 30 feet of the lot in question and to reserve a 60 foot strip from Sixth street to Ninth street for the eventual opening of Warsaw street was made on the recommendation of the city planning commission.

Mr. Held asked $1,500 for the lot which the council felt was too much. The question was further complicated by the fact that Mr. Held had contracted for the building of a home on that lot, work on which was already started. The house also was sold before construction.

Major Jensen declared that the planning commission had to look at the future and that eventually others would build and a roadway would be needed. He pointed out that the row of all five lots on which Mr. Held is building houses was assessed for only $400. Later he declared that he was a member of the board of review and was in favor of changing the assessment immediately.

Explains Figure

M. F. Crowley, attorney for Mr. Held, was given an opportunity to explain how the $1,500 figure was derived at Crowley declared that lots nearby had sold for $500 to $575 and that this one was held at $600, including abstract cost. Plans had been drawn and a contract made which was stopped. The contractor would demand $300 for his loss. Sewer assessment amounted to $79.20 while expense of sale, for the house is already sold before it is built, was set down at $100. Miscellaneous expenses were set down at $200 and the loss to the owner at another $200.

Crowley declared that there was nothing on record to show that the city intended ever to extend Warsaw street through to Ninth. A building permit, authorizing construction of a home on the lot in question, was issued by H. O. Haugh, city building inspector, on Aug. 1. Construction work on the house was ordered stopped last Saturday and again Monday by Mr. Haugh and the mayor. When Crowley asked for a counter-offer at the council meeting last night, the mayor declared that he was in favor of condemnation proceedings.

William Schommer, a property owner in the vicinity of Ninth street, told the council that when he had talked with Held that the former mayor had said he was building three houses to face Ninth street and two to face Warsaw street when it is extended. Later when Schommer found that all houses would face Ninth street and would block the street extension, he protested to Mayor W. H. Jensen.

Variety of Opinions

A round of discussion among the aldermen followed. Alderman Earl Sauter declared that he favored condemnation proceedings only if the cost of opening the street was assessed back to the property owners who will benefit by the new street, rather than spreading the cost over the entire tax roll. Sauter and Edward Zeininger voted against Reuben Tschugeler's motion to accept the planning commission's recommendation and also voted against authorizing the city attorney to start condemnation proceedings.

The council also met with property owners interested in the widening of Smith street last night. They agreed that it should be widened but reached no decision. The matter probably will come up at the next council meeting, one week from tonight. If the widening can be carried out at a nominal cost, it probably will be completed.

The council agreed that the purchase eventually will be necessary but declared that no provision had been made for it in the budget. In addition, contemplated WPA projects, such as the swimming pool and the paving of E. Wisconsin avenue, probably will exhaust the city's surplus funds, the mayor stated.

Ordned to the priesthood

Major Jensen offered to "Toss in his own salary to fight the case" and declared that he did not want to penalize 30 taxpayers for the benefit of one. A. E. McMahon suggested that the council could put a reverse in the road similar to the one on Oak street and could thus avoid purchasing any of the Held property but Major Jensen declared he thought the city should have one or two straight streets at least. Alderman Carl J. Oberweiser suggested a counter-offer and compromise.

After voting to authorize the city attorney to start condemnation proceedings, the council adjourned.

He will celebrate his first solemn mass at St. Mary's church at 10:30 Sunday morning, Sept. 4. A dinner in his honor will be held in the school hall following the mass.

I have just returned from the gift shows in Chicago — The trend toward the Scandinavian arts, was to me, amazing — while there I marveled at the colorful — unusual and truly beautiful merchandise displayed — in talking to Mr. Pierce, representative of "Products of Sweden" he said "The Scandinavian countries have been overlooked the past few years but are now coming into their own. There are the greatest glass factories in the world, working full time — it's time the United States awakened to the fact that the Scandinavian Arts are here to stay."

And here in my shop, I have tried to display a part of that art — brides' chests, stemware of beautiful quality and reasonable price, bowls, vases, pottery, candlesticks and colorful and unusual gifts for young people. It will be a pleasure to show it all to you.

Attorney Tells of Doubtful Evidence In Hauptmann Case

Menasha—Doubt of the guilt of Bruno Hauptmann, who was electrocuted for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby, was expressed by Vincent Marko, one of the defense attorneys, in a talk given before the Menasha Rotary club at Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon. "I don't know if he was guilty or not," Marko concluded his remarks.

The attorney, who is president of the Hollywood Bar association, went into detail in the case and pointed out that many items of evidence were admitted during the case which probably would not have been permitted in any other case. However, the Lindbergh name and public opinion influenced the case so that it was much more than an ordinary trial.

Marko expressed doubt over the identification of the Lindbergh baby as well as the explanation that Hauptmann disguised his tracks by wrapping burlap around his feet and removed it before entering the Lindbergh home. He also declared that in an ordinary trial a review of the case would have been granted because of some of the doubtful evidence.

Nancy Lenz, 302 Broad street, Robert Evenstad, 400 Tayco street, and Roland Knoer, 740 Tayco street, had their tonsils removed at Theda Clark hospital this morning. Betty Haber, 141 McKinley street, Neenah, also had her tonsils removed this morning.

Finds Company Guilty Of Labor Violations

Milwaukee—(P)—A trial examiner's report, filed with the regional labor board here today, asserted that the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, which operates lumber camps near Munising, Mich., and mills at Marquette and Negaunee, Mich., had been guilty of "interfering with, restraining and coercing its employees."

Examiner John Lindquist, who submitted this finding, recently completed a hearing at Marquette on charges filed by the International Wood Workers of America (CIO) that the company had engaged in unfair labor practices against lumberjacks in Alger county (Mich.).

The workers ended a three month strike last August.

Lindquist recommended that the company grant full reinstatement with back salaries to eight employees who he said had been discharged for union activities.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

Milwaukee—(P)—Philip Gonzales, 46, was electrocuted in the basement of his home last night when he touched an extension cord attached to an electric light wire while standing in a small pool of water.

RUPTURE

You need not wear a truss all of your life, nor is it necessary to undergo a dangerous hospital operation in order to have your rupture corrected. Many of these cases can be permanently corrected by my office method. There is no loss of time or attention from work. It requires only a few minutes to administer the treatment after which you can immediately return to your regular work. This method is now in experimental use and has been used for many years with splendid success. It is absolutely safe and those cases accepted for treatment are excluded from the delicate and permanent relief. A thorough examination will determine whether your case is suitable for this method.

ALL COMMON PILES, FISTULAS, FISTULAS, and all other rectal and COLON AFFLCTIONS also corrected by mild, safe, office method. Call or write for booklet and testimonials.

DR. G. F. MESSER

Minister Refuses to Finance Honeymoon

Bethany, Mo.—(P)—The Rev. John Ward, Methodist minister, didn't object when a couple routed him from bed at 3 a. m. or when they told him after the marriage ceremony they couldn't pay him.

But when the bridegroom asked to borrow money for a 500-mile trip to Illinois, his generosity ended. The answer was:

"They knew what They wanted."

Historic Grignon Home Once Was Center of Fox Valley Social Activity

BY MARY ELLEN POMEROY
"A mansion built in the woods" is what the historic Grignon home at Kaukauna has been called. The name is most fitting, for such is the impression one has upon seeing it for the first time. Set far back from the rough road—one of the earliest in the state and one traveled by Father Marquette—it is imposing with the grandeur of its age and tradition. Built nearly 100 years ago by Charles A. Grignon, son of the Augustin Grignon, who, coming to Wisconsin in 1804, purchased the original Ducharme cabin, it has been the home of members of the Grignon family up to the present time.

The home was the scene of countless parties for the six daughters and three sons of Charles Grignon during the last century. Residents of Appleton, Kaukauna and Green Bay recall weekends spent there; it is often said that it was the very center of the Fox valley's social life. Guests frequently arrived to spend a weekend and remained all summer; a group of 23 people "dropping in" for dinner was not uncommon. Mrs. Ross C. Grignon, present occupant of the house, recalls.

Marble Dust Plaster
After all the years since the building of the home, the original plaster in the red-carpeted parlor is intact; mixed with marble dust, it is smooth and hard to the touch. Hand-made linen-lace curtains at the wide windows, a solid mahogany armchair with graceful lines, a prism hanging chandelier whose crystals capture the sun's rays and reflect them in little colored, dancing lights, a looking glass backed with real silver, waxen candles daintily painted by Margaret Grignon, and a quaint six-legged table give an old-fashioned, home-like, "lived-in" feeling that is lacking in so many historical exhibits—but which is the vital charm of the Grignon house. It is in this room that Mrs. Charles Grignon's wedding gown is shown. It is 101 years old, made in the traditional white silk, satin-trimmed fashion.

In the living room on the opposite side of the wide hall which formerly opened onto the pillared veranda there hangs a landscape painted by Margaret Grignon. Examples of her work are scattered throughout the house; in a sunny little room on the third floor her drawing board, easel, paint palette and unfinished work may be seen. She was an instructor in painting at Lawrence college, and an older sister, Fanny, taught French and music there. On the cupboard shelves in this living room are a set of genuine hob-nail glasses that would delight a collector, a quaint shaving cup painted by Margaret for her father, a blanc-mange mould in the then popular lotus pattern, and other pieces of unusual chinaware.

Feather Fly-Chaser
What is now the kitchen of the Grignon mansion was originally the dining room. A separate building connected with the house by a covered runway, was used as a cook house. A visitor in the house today can easily imagine the large family seated around the long table, a small servant boy wielding an ostrich feather fly-chaser over the bald head of an important guest. This fly-chaser can still be seen, along with a wooden flour bowl made by the Indians, Mrs. Grignon's plum-pudding kettle and a clumsy contrivance for cracking nuts. From the back veranda, now covered with partition lumber from the old Ducharme cabin, one can see far back over the rolling fields to the ridge, at the foot of which the original home was built.

Going up the stairs, which have an elaborately handcarved cherry rail, one visits the bedrooms, with their four-poster, rope-mattressed beds, hide trunks and huge fireplaces. All the books belonging to the family are shown on the third floor; children's picture books, Bibles, novels, school books and one of the first edition of Noah Webster's dictionary can be seen. In the document room letters to and from members of the family reveal vast amount of business transacted by Charles Grignon in connection with his fur trade and duties as one of the young states most public-spirited citizens. There are personal letters, too. One reads with delight a note from a relative telling one of the girls that the sack of apples she is sending has been sewed up at the mouth so the Indians cannot steal them.

While going through the house visitors find the early history of the state and particularly of the Fox river valley becoming astonishingly more vivid and interesting, for the close tie-up of the family with the state's growth is plainly evident. The other lasting impression is "What interesting people lived here!"

Child Labor Chief Knows Nothing About Cherry Camp Meeting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Taylor Frye, head of the women's and child labor division of the state industrial commission, Monday declared firmly that he knows "nothing whatever about a conference between commission representatives and Door county fruit growers on wages paid to cherry pickers during the last season."

Mrs. Maude Swett, field director in Milwaukee for the division, has been quoted as saying that she would call a conference of cherry growers, as the result of a request for investigation of supposedly low wages paid to boy pickers in the Sturgeon Bay orchards. The request was signed by Rev. Edwin A. Brown, pastor of the Kenwood Episcopal church of Milwaukee.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, in a letter to the commission, says some boys averaged only 20 cents a week above board and railroad fare, were forced to work nine to 10 hours a day, and were penalized by night work when they failed to meet their daily quotas.

Eckern Coming Into Fox Valley for Campaigning

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The office of Lieutenant Governor Herman L. Eckern, Progressive candidate for the United States senate nomination, announced today that Eckern is planning a Fox River Valley speaking trip soon.

It was also announced that Eckern will be in Green Bay Thursday to meet party leaders and members

Brown county Progressives, including John W. Reynolds, former attorney general, have arranged for the visit, it was said.

HOLLYWOOD LIGHTS CAMERAS ACTION HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Claire Trevor's best proof in town that a bit in a "big" picture is worth more to an actress than starring roles in the "little ones."

Blonde Miss Trevor for five years has been the B-Queen at 20th Century-Fox. Her pictures haven't cost big money, and they've made quite a bit. But they weren't using her in the big ones until she did that one-sequence role in "Dead End" on loan to Goldwyn. Warner's got interested, she's done "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" and "Valley of the Giants" for them, and she'll make that her studio home with a few outside pictures besides.

Demure Lady
Jean Parker looks comically demure these days for her role in "Romance of the Limberlost." Period thing, turn-of-the-century and rural, so Jean wears a hat with rooster feathers, a weird dress and high-buttoned boots.

The costume didn't suggest ballet, but that's what she talked about mostly between scenes. She's studying it, two lessons a week, and what's more, a ballet movie may come out of it. Jean's interest attracted to the subject her husband, George MacDonald, former newspaperman, and with Jesse Lasky, Jr., he has written a ballet story, young Lasky being an avid student of the art.

Credits Given
Imagination takes a spring flight at the New Universal, as witness this from a studio bulletin board: "Memo—To all Department Heads—from Charles R. Rogers—Please be advised that the College Series will be entitled as follows—

"Freshman Year"
"Sophomore Year"
"Junior Year"
"Senior Year"
(Signed) Charles R. Rogers."

Fritz Lang, who directed Sylvia Sidney and George Raft in "You and Me," gives credit where it's due:

"Acting and directing are two entirely separate phases of picture-making. Therefore all credit for a fine piece of acting should go to the actor. Naturally it is the director who paces the picture and endeavors to secure an effective blend of performances that will result in a quality production. But he can't, no matter how hard he tries, draw from an actor a performance beyond that individual's own emotional ability. All glory for acting should go to the actors."

Miss Sidney recently averred in print that Hollywood had no actors as such. Mr. Lang, asked if he might be replying to Miss Sidney, was quite sure that he was not.

Todays' pronunciation lesson:
Dan-yell Dare-you will do for the new French star. . . . Carol (at Christmas) is good enough for Lombard, despite the "e" . . . Meesha Hour (as on the clock) is best for the funniest Russian. . . . Marley-nah (if you must be fawny) for Dietrich, which is DEE-trick and not Deet-rish or Deet-rich. . . . But Marlee will do. . . . See-moan See-moan, of course, for the double talk gal. . . . Ree-go for the Argentine Rigaud. . . . Eesa (as in esca-on-the-eyes) for Miranda. . . . Margo (as in Mrs. Francis Lederer) for Margot Grahame, which is Graham, as with Ed Wynn, not Gray Hame (as in "My Little Gray Hame in the West"). . . . With George Barbier just be simple. . . . Bar-bee-ay doesn't go with him.

Courthouse Committee Will Prepare Report

The special committee named for the proposed new courthouse or addition will meet next Monday to review progress in the drawing of plans and to prepare a report for the August meeting of the county board which goes into session Tuesday morning. The plans are being drawn by Raymond LeVeé, Appleton architect.

Band at Kimberly Offers 3rd Concert Of Summer Series

Kimberly—The Community band will offer its third open air concert in the park Thursday evening under the direction of Prof. M. J. Heynen of Green Bay. In addition to overtures, marches and novelty numbers, John Maas will sing two popular numbers. In case of rain, the program will be held next week. Miss Shirley Melcher who has accepted a position elsewhere, is confined to her home with illness.

Miss Georgia Gostos, Walnut Street, is born in 1923.

New London—The K. C.'s took a 4 to 2 decision over the spirited Mystery Boys in a game played last night at the Washington High school athletic field.

It was a pitcher's battle from the start and a tough one to lose for Junior Prahl who pitched two hit ball and issued only two walks. Errors in the first and fourth innings led to his ultimate downfall. The K. C.'s scored two runs in the first on three errors and a fielder's choice. Stern cracked out a triple after Polaski had walked to break up a 2 to 2 tie in the fourth. They scored their fourth and last run in the sixth on an error, a hit and a wild throw from the field.

Nader, the winning pitcher allowed only four hits and kept them well scattered by only allowing two hits in one inning, the second. Errors played an important part in the scoring of both teams. The field was set and slippery and so was the ball after the first inning.

Airmails For Liberia

Liberia's first airmail set—10 large colorful stamps, printed by Waterlow & Sons of London—has reached this country.

The little Negro republic issued a series of six triangular stamps in 1936 which were inscribed "air mail," but that set was to commemorate the first airmail service February 28, 1936.

The new set ranges in face value from 1-cent to $1, and offers five designs: 1-c green and 50-c brown, upright format, eagle flying; 2-c orange red and 10-c violet, horizontal format, large cabin monoplane over ocean; 3-c olive and 30-c gray, gull flying over waves, shore in back-magenta and $1 light blue, upright format, flying boat above Liberian seacoast.

Romanian Painter Honored

Like many other countries, Rumania has been producing semi-postal commemoratives with fair frequency. The latest philatelic offering from Bucharest is a set of five attractive photogravure stamps honoring the centenary of Nicolae Grigorescu, a painter who was best known for his native subjects.

The 10 plus 1-lei stamp carries a portrait of Grigorescu, with a palette and brushes beside it. The other four values, all lesser denominations, carry reproductions of four of his paintings.

Rumania's next issue may be a mourning stamp for the late Dowager Queen Marie.

There is a rumor in British philatelic circles that Great Britain may reissue the Penny Black on May 6, 1840, the centenary of its original appearance.

NEW $1 STAMP

A new $1 stamp bearing the likeness of Woodrow Wilson will be the next denomination issued by the United States postal department in the new regular series.

The stamp will first be placed on sale at Washington, D. C., Aug. 29

and will be available at post offices throughout the nation as soon as distribution can be made.

VFW Committee, Aldermen to Meet On Safety Project

Ordinance in Line With Proposed Bicycle Club
Will be Drafted

Kaukauna—A committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, headed by Charles Clune, will meet soon with the ordinance committee of the common council and Chief of Police James E. MacFadden to go about arranging for bicycle safety club here. Members of the ordinance committee are Walter Kilgian, chairman; Theodore L. Segelink and Otto M. Ludtke.

The purpose of the meeting will be to draft an ordinance under which a safety club, on the order of those now being sponsored all over the country by the veterans' organizations, can be set up. The veterans' committee will report back on the proposed measure to the post before it is submitted to the common council for approval.

The purpose of the proposed club is to install into the minds of the bicycle riders, most of whom are in their teens or younger, the dangers of riding, and to cut down the increasing number of traffic accidents involving bicycles.

Lasting Benefits

These bicycle riders are slowly becoming, in addition, automobile drivers, and if they are taught at an early age to become "safety minded" they will carry the thought in later life, when automobile traffic will be more involved than it is now, proponents of the plan say.

After the council approves the ordinance, a meeting of all junior bicycle riders will be called to organize. Application cards will be distributed to all present, and children will be required to have their parent's signature on these cards, to be returned at the next meeting. Before the first meeting ends a regular meeting time will be set, and at the next meeting officers will be elected and installed.

The members will run the club themselves. Their own patrolmen will bring alleged offenders into their own court, where they will be prosecuted and defended by officers elected for this purpose. If any member is found guilty of any bicycle traffic violation his license will be suspended for a period not to exceed thirty days.

Rain Forces Postponement Of Kaukauna City League Contest

CITY LEAGUE	STANDINGS:	W.	L.
Kappell's Tavern	3	1	1
Kaukauna Klub	3	1	1
Mankosky Fuels	2	1	1
South C. Y. O.	2	2	2

Kaukauna—Rain last night cost the Kaukauna Klubs an opportunity to go into first place all by themselves in the city league. As it was their contest with the Athletics will now be played Monday night on the library grounds, and the situation probably will be such that they must win this game to tie for the second half title.

Tonight the Mankosky Fuels will clash with the South Side C. Y. O. The south sides have little chance for the second half crown, but the Fuels must win to keep up with the fast stepping Kaukauna Klub and Kappell Tavern teams. Ed Jakl will be on the mound for the C. Y. O. with Paul McMahon behind the bat. For the Fuels it will be Sherman Powers on the hill and Jim Mankosky catching.

Friday night the Fuels will play the Kappell Taverns in a postponed game. The loser of this tilt will be as good as eliminated from the pennant race, which ends next Monday.

Circus and Stage Acts Planned at Weyauwega Fair

Large Number of Exhibits
Indicated for Waupaca
County Event

Weyauwega — Waupaca county's fair will be presented at Weyauwega four days, Aug. 25 to 28. The entertainment program, believed by fair officials to be the finest in history, will be headed by nearly 20 circus and stage acts sent here direct from state fairs throughout the northwest.

Among the noted circus acts that will be seen in front of the grandstand will be nationally known eight-wire artists, animal acts, acrobats, trapeze performers, comics of every description, dancers, musical numbers, and every known variety of entertainment, all of which has earned the highest reputation under canvas and on the stage. There will be changes of program on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

In addition to the regular exhibits always seen at the better county fairs, there will be a spectacular electrical display, the 1938 House of Wonders. This will again occupy the entire building formerly taken up by the township exhibits.

Love on the Range

THE STORY SO FAR

A plot is on foot to smash the Rafter T. and "Blur" Ankrom takes a job there to help lovely Lee Trone. She saves his life by shooting an impostor, Kelton Drean, but he learns this only after Drean's accomplice, Betty, causes trouble between them. Ratchford, the sheriff, tells Ankrom that Claydell, a neighboring rancher, is after the Trone's land because a railroad is going through Ankrom accuses Claydell.

Chapter 26
Claydell's Answer

Claydell's bushy eyebrows drew sharply down above his yellow stare. "We six-foot figure in his shiny black boot" drew erect.

"Is this meant to be a joke?" he asked.

"Does it sound like a joke to you?"

"It sounds to me like the raving of a crazy man," Claydell said contemptuously. "Do you think I'd be fool enough to trust such things for the sake of a paltry railroad right-of-way? Use your head!"

"I'm usin' it. Want to hear the rest?"

If it will give you any relief to elaborate further by all means spin ahead."

Ankrom nodded. "The railroad right-of-way is not the only thing you're after. You would indeed be a fool to risk so much for that. But that ain't all. You plan to build a town alongside the proposed tracks about half a mile from the valley housing Trone's home ranch. Your ultimate object is to dam Trone's valley in an attempt to boom Rafter T land to the bunch of home-seekers the railroad is going to entice in for you!"

"So!" Claydell expelled a cloud of smoke from his nostrils. "A likely yarn," he jeered. "The only difficulty in getting people round here to swallow it. I think that's where you're going to run up against a snaz, mister." A calculating gleam shone from the yellow eyes. "Mind telling me where you gathered all these notions?"

RIO THEATRE'S GREATER SHOW SEASON

Starts Friday With Money-Back Entertainment!

"Love Finds Andy Hardy" and "Army Girl" Combined on Twin Hit Bill Personally Endorsed by Manager

HEAD CAST OF "ARMY GIRL"

Preston Foster and Madge Evans are appearing in "Army Girl" with a huge cast that includes James Gleason, H. B. Warner, Ralph Morgan, Heather Angel, Billy Gilbert, Barbara Pepper and thousands of others. Despite the title, it is not a war picture.

JANE WITHERS STARS in "KEEP SMILING"

Said to be her finest picture to date, Jane Withers in "Keep Smiling" is the attraction booked for the mid-week program at the Rio theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. "Mr Chump," with Jonnie Davis, Lola Lane, and Penny Singleton is the added feature.

"ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND" COMING TO RIO
With Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, and Don Ameche heading a mighty cast, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," rated by critics to be the finest picture ever brought to the screen will be shown at the Rio theatre starting Friday, August 19.

Program Said to Be One of the Year's Finest

Starting Friday for five days the Rio theatre is presenting what Stanley Gross, manager, announces as one of the top twin hit programs of the year. The bill is being offered on a money-back guarantee, and the management says they will cheerfully refund the admission price of any patron who does not thoroughly enjoy "Love Finds Andy Hardy" and "Army Girl," the opening program of the Rio theatre's Greater Show Season.

Judge Hardy's family embarks on another amusing adventure in "Love Finds Andy Hardy."

Lewis Stone is seen as Judge Hardy. Mickey Rooney is his son, Andy. Cecilia Parker is the daughter, Fay Holden the mother and Betty Ross Clarke the aunt.

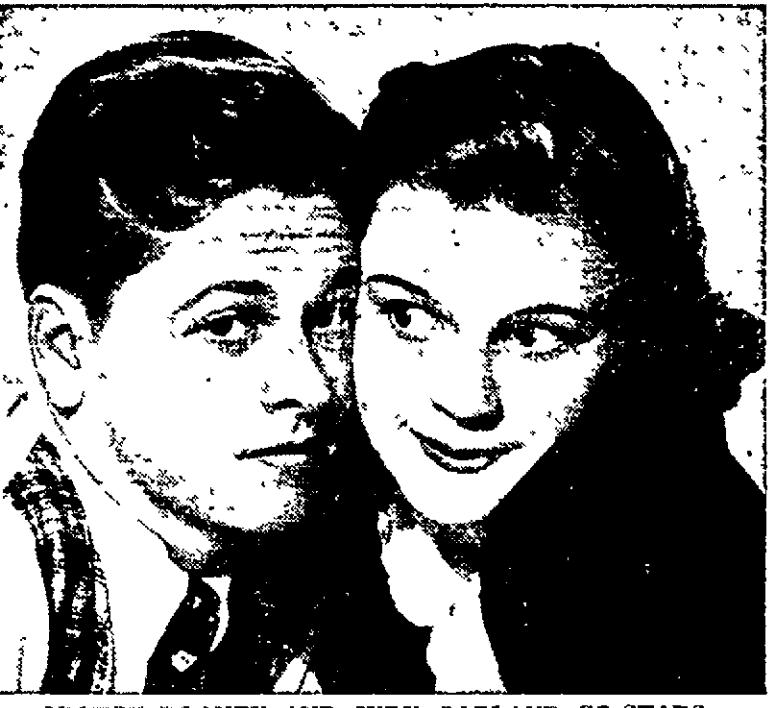

In addition, Judy Garland makes her debut in the series in this picture, singing three songs and playing a grown-up role for one night. Lana Turner makes her appearance as one of Mickey's three girl friends. Ann Rutherford is back again as his "steady" girl.

Most of the recent movie spectacles have dealt with past history—either of a famous personality or of an international catastrophe.

For instance, "In Old Chicago," based on the great Chicago fire, and "San Francisco," dealing with the terrible earthquake and fire, are taken from early American history. Other lavish pictures like "Adventures of Robin Hood" eulogize heroes and fleetingly characters across the sea.

But now these come to the screen a thundering, poignant drama of adventure in our own country of today—a story of staunch loyalties, unmerciful progressiveness, and emotional entanglements involved in the plans to mechanize a cavalry regiment. The story is "Army Girl," starring Madge Evans and Preston Foster.

Greater Show Season Offers Unusual Array of Hits

The auspicious opening of Greater Show Season at the Rio theatre Friday is the send-off of the biggest parade of hits ever brought to any theatre.

One of the most outstanding of the pictures booked for an early showing is "Marie Antoinette" with Norma Shearer in the leading role. Tyrone Power is co-starred with Miss Shearer in a cast that includes John Barrymore, Gladys George, Robert Norley, Joseph Schildkraut, Anita Louise, and thousands of others.

"Marie Antoinette" is scheduled for the Rio theatre starting Friday, August 26th.

Another production scheduled for early showing is "To Hot To Handle," co-starring Clark Gable and Myrna Loy. The supporting cast includes Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo, and Walter Connolly. Almost completed at the studio, "Too Hot To Handle" is said to surpass "Test Pilot," and advance reports indicate it will have a worthy place on the Rio theatre's parade of hits for greater show season.

"March of Time" is Added Attraction

The 100 deaths and 4,000 injuries which occur daily on U.S. highways are unnecessary, according to "Man at the Wheel," an episode in the latest issue of the MARCH OF TIME also featured on the program starting Friday at the Rio theatre.

The MARCH OF TIME shows that scientific study of the U.S.

traffic accident problem has been responsible for the development of a new police enforcement policy which aims to prevent accidents by foreseeing them, and the film shows how this system has actually been made to work for accident reduction.

In its second episode "Threat to Gibraltar," MARCH OF TIME presents the first pictorial account of the internationally neutral zone of Tangier, where fascist agents are at work to establish a base to rival British Gibraltar as a stronghold in the Mediterranean. MARCH OF TIME's cameramen have been stationed in Tangier for the past six months, photographing developments of this little-known but all-important sidelight to the European political situation.

Wheat Quotations Slump to New Low 5-Year Records

Argentina Prepares to Compete Actively for World Export Business

Chicago—(I)—Indications that Argentina is preparing to compete actively for world export business, together with Jap-Russian stoppage of fighting, tumbled wheat down 2½ cents today to fresh five-year low-price records.

Bright prospects for increased Argentine crops were reported. Large shipments of wheat out of Russia formed an added bearish influence. Receipts were: wheat 83 cars, corn 172, oats 114.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1½-2 cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 62½, Dec. 63½, corn 13-14 down, Sept. 49½, Dec. 47½, and oats 1½ off.

Love on the Range

"Say," he exclaimed with more usual enthusiasm. "I believe you've about solved it."

"What are you talking about?" Those sheep! Heffle would never take it on himself to try jumping your water. A man who can be bought once can be bought again—an outfit that'll use sheep once will try 'em again."

"You mean—"

"Ratchford, Tom Ratchford, the sheriff, is the man you're looking for."

Ankrom, as he sent the buckskin leisurely across the darkening range toward the Rafter T, was not convinced. Like his own accusations of Claydell, the rancher's case against Ratchford had a number of loopholes.

Claydell took a turn about the room. He stopped to face Ankrom squarely. "Ratchford gave you these notions to focus your interests."

"Why would he want to do that?"

"How do I know?" I told you he didn't like me. He's been laying for me for years. The Ratchfords are a breed who don't forget."

"Don't forget what?" Ankrom cut in swiftly.

Claydell snorted. "Don't forget anything! Years ago there was a sort of range war in this country. The ranchers here were trying to keep out nesters, squatters, home-steaders. They succeeded till Trone came in. He was a hell-bender, and he brought a tough crowd with him. We couldn't budge 'em. I'm a sensible man. I hope, I saw the way things were going. I was losing money hand over fist. The fight was at a deadlock. I recognized that Trone would never be licked." He paused to search Ankrom's face with his yellow eyes, then said, "I throw in with Trone."

"An' come out on the winnin' side, eh?" There was a scornful curl to Ankrom's lips as he put the question.

Ratchford's The One'

"Yes," he said, "Trone and I won out. Old Ratchford — Tom's father — tried to break us by bringing in sheep. He was the one that got broke — him and three-four others. But he took the biggest loss. Not long after the thing was finished he went out back of the house one day an' blew his brains out. Do you understand now why Ratchford's got it in for me?"

"What happened to Ratchford's sheep?"

"They were found one morning at the bottom of a canyon."

"Slick. Who had been in charge of 'em?"

"Sheepman named Boone Heffle. A surely devil an' still in the country, by the way."

"Not any longer he isn't," Ankrom said, and watched Claydell's face intently. "I killed him this afternoon."

Claydell showed surprise. But not more than anyone else would have shown under the circumstances. "Is that so? Why?"

"He was trying to jump the water at our southwest line camp I mentioned it before."

"So you did. I take it then the Rafter T still controls that water. If you need any more men to hold it, let me know. I've sided Trone too long to let him down now. I'd—" He broke off abruptly, snapped his fingers.

"Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile daily. If this bile does not do its work freely, your food doesn't digest, it just decays in the bowels. Gastro-intestinal trouble. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour and the world looks pink.

So much medicine doesn't fit the cure. It takes these new old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazingly effective. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills; buy one. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

"Nothin' much happened, eh? You're a sight too modest."

"Well, what happened?" Trone growled. "Say somethin'! Do I have to get a rope an' drag it from you?"

"I shot up two or three gents an' the rest cleared out."

Trone swore. "You tell it like a tea-party! Is that all you got to say? Wasn't Heffle there? If he was I'mbettin' strong there was some action!"

"He was there." Ankrom's drawl was bitter. "His light was the first I blown."

Trone's glance flashed excitement. "Good! I'd have give a year of my life to have seen that! I'm glad you cashed his chips. What else happened?"

"Nothing much. I wounded a couple other birds. The rest threw down their guns. I warned them off the Rafter T and told 'em the next one caught would be shot on sight."
